Good Strategy/Bad Strategy | The Difference and Why It Matters
Bad strategy, ridiculous as it is made obvious by such template, is prevalent. In many companies "strategy" is just a vaguely motivational, vacuous pie in the sky wishing amassed with political correctness statements.

Good Strategy/Bad Strategy: The Difference and Why It ...
Strategy is about how an organization will move forward. Bad strategy lacks actions to take. Bad strategy mistakes goals, ambition, vision, values, and effort for strategy (these things are important, but on their own are not strategy). Good strategy is designed to be coherent – all the actions an organization takes should reinforce and support each other. Leaders must do this deliberately and coordinate action across departments.

Notes from "Good Strategy / Bad Strategy" by Jeff Zych

Good strategy • Diagnosis: understanding the challenge • A guiding policy: the reasons that you'll take action to address the challenge • A set of coherent actions: a concrete, consistent action plan Bad strategy • Fluff: empty slogans and buzzwords • Failure to face the challenge: focusing on things that are not the root problem • Mistaking goals for strategy: a wish-list of objectives without a plan of action •

Good strategy gathers power from its very rareness. [Ch. 1, "Good Strategy is Unexpected"] A great deal of modern writing about strategy deals with the detailed economic logic of "competitive advantage." Good Strategy/Bad Strategy argues that a coherent strategy can be, by itself, a significant source of competitive advantage. The advantage flows from coordination and focus as well as from resolving the impossible ambiguity of reality into a problem that fits the organization's ...

About | Good Strategy/Bad Strategy

According to Richard Rumelt in Good Strategy/Bad Strategy: "An especially insightful diagnosis can transform one's view of the situation, bringing a radically different perspective to bear. When a diagnosis classifies the situation as a certain type, it opens access to knowledge about how analogous situations were handled in the past..."

To be a good strategy, it must precisely diagnose the problem being solved; set a guiding policy that will address that problem; and propose a set of coherent actions which will deliver that policy. These three elements make up the 'Kernel of Good Strategy' defined by Richard Rumelt in his book 'Good Strategy / Bad Strategy'. Rumelt started his working life as an engineer, before becoming an academic and management consultant to some of the largest organisations in the world.

Good Strategy / Bad Strategy PDF Summary - Richard Rumelt

I think "Good Strategy – Bad Strategy" by Richard Rumelt is one of the best books on strategy I have come across. I was one of the first to read it, and once I picked it up I had trouble putting it down. Now that is quite a compliment for a management book, especially one on Strategy. As a strategy consultant who has tried most strategic ...

Rumelt suggests that the underlying factor contributing to bad strategy is lack of commitment to the hard work. Good strategy, results from investing the time to make the hard choices to gain focus, and identifying obstacles and working out how to deal with them. Rumelt states that there are three key elements that make up good strategy:

Good Strategy/Bad Strategy: The Difference and Why It ...

The Core Concepts of Good Strategy, Bad Strategy Per Rumelt, "good strategy is coherent action backed up by an argument, an effective mixture of thought and action with a basic underlying structure called the kernel."

Book Review of Good Strategy, Bad Strategy by Richard ...

"Bad strategy is long on goals and short on policy or action. It assumes that goals are all you need. It puts forward strategic objectives that are incoherent and, sometimes, totally impracticable. It uses high-sounding words and phrases to hide these failings."

Good Strategy Bad Strategy Quotes by Richard P. Rumelt

Good Strategy/Bad Strategy clarifies the muddled thinking underlying too many strategies and provides a clear way to create and implement a powerful action-oriented strategy for the real world. Developing and implementing a strategy is the central task of a leader.
