The Salon Independent Contractor Agreement establishes a binding arrangement between a hair stylist or barber and a salon company. In most cases, the hair stylist acts as an independent contractor that is responsible for obtaining their own clients and customers. Therefore, the salon company will generally provide the booth, most of the equipment, and training in exchange for a percentage (%) of the hair stylist's sales.

The hairstylist independent contractor agreement is used to officially outline the terms of a working arrangement between a company (usually a salon or barbershop) and professional hairstylists. Often barbers and hairstylists will pay the business owner to rent their workspace ("chair") on a daily, weekly, or monthly basis. It is also common for the stylist to receive a percentage of profits that are paid out as a commission.

Contracting self-employed workers can be an attractive option for salon owners, not least because of savings in tax, National Insurance, holiday pay and sick pay. But HMRC has taken an increasing interest in the legitimacy of self-employment practice in salons as it loses them hundreds of thousands of pounds in revenue annually.

The rules around contracting self-employed workers

Independent contractors are contracted, responsible for all of their own taxes, and do not answer to a salon owner except to ensure the contract terms have been fulfilled. Independent contractors must be provided with a 1099 form at the end of the year by any person who has contracted them and paid them more than $600 in that year.
